January 25, 2012

John & Doris Norton School of Family & Consumer Sciences

Arizona's First University.

Purpose of this Presentation

- To provide an update on progress on Yavapai RPC 2012 Needs and Assets Assessment
- To review the community-level fact sheets
- To provide an update on the development of the data querying system

Progress on Base Report

- Received tribal approval for data collection from the Yavapai-Apache Nation through tribal resolution
 - Currently working with tribal agencies to identify and request appropriate data
- FTF Research and Evaluation Office requested specific data elements from a number of public service agencies
 - Data source tracking document shows status of those requests
- Have been compiling and analyzing data from a number of publically available data sources, including
 - RPC-specific Census 2010 data
 - data made available to RPC for strategic planning
- Currently on timeline
