Court Team for Infants and Toddlers

First Things First Grant Money at Work

October 4, 2010

KINGMAN, AZ – Michael Trout (right), an author and nationally recognized expert on child maltreatment intervention from the University of Illinois in Champaign/ Urbana, shares a lighter moment with Mohave County Presiding Superior Court Judge Richard Weiss last week in Kingman. Forty participants from the Mohave County Superior Court Infant/Toddler Mental Health Team attended three-days of intensive training from Trout. Numerous agency workers who work with kids through age 5 years-old attended the hands-on training. Funding for the training was provided by First Things First grant funds. Trainings are held monthly. For information, call Tonya Ford at 928-753-0744.
