Target Population to Serve

This strategy addresses multiple target populations. Primarily the focus is on providing oral health screenings and fluoride varnish applications to 3,000 children, ages 1-5 in both regions (1500 each). This target service number has been exceeded in the past, however, encouraging expectant women to participate has been challenging. In addition, this strategy provides oral health education to 3,000 parents of children birth to five (1500 in each region), 370 early care and education professionals and health care professionals (175 in Central Maricopa and 195 in Southeast Maricopa and pregnant women (50 in Central Maricopa).

Applicants must describe how services will be targeted to families with children birth through age five and pregnant women who are likely to lack access to preventive dental care.
