What is the Arizona Early Childhood Development and Health Board (First Things First)?

In November 2006, Arizona voters passed Proposition 203, also known as First Things First, a citizen's initiative that funds quality early childhood development and health at the state and local level. The Proposition created a new state level board known as the Arizona Early Childhood Development and Health (AzECDH) Board, also known as the Board of First Things First, and the Regional Partnership Councils.

First Things First Mission

The mission of First Things First is to increase the quality of, and access to, early childhood programs that will ensure a child entering school arrives healthy and ready to succeed. This mission will principally be achieved through regional grants tailored to the specific needs and characteristics of the communities that the regions serve, with a focus on demonstrating improved outcomes around First Things First's six goal areas prioritized by the challenges the regions face. This mission is also accomplished through statewide initiatives that have been prioritized by the Board of First Things First.

This statewide policy and regional perspective are critical to the success of the First Things First mission. Early childhood development and health system initiatives from First Things First will be coordinated through statewide initiatives and regional priorities.

First Things First Goal Areas

The First Things First initiative specifies that programs undertaken by the Arizona Early Childhood Development and Health Board and the Regional Partnership Councils are to accomplish one or more of the following Goal Areas:

- Improve the quality of early childhood development and health programs.
- Increase the access to quality early childhood development and health programs.
- Increase access to preventive health care and health screenings for children through age five.
- Offer parent and family support and education concerning early childhood development and literacy.
- Provide professional development and training for early childhood development and health providers.
- Increasing coordination of early childhood development and health programs and provide public information about the importance of early childhood development and health.

What is the Funding Source?

The First Things First initiative provides for the distribution of funding through both statewide and regional grants.

Of the monies expended in a fiscal year from the First Things First program account, no more than ten percent may be used to fund statewide grants or programs. Statewide programs are considered those implemented across regional boundaries and are designed to benefit Arizona's children as a whole.

This Request for Grant Application is specifically dedicated to funding regional programs. Regional funding is based on the approval of the Regional Partnership Council funding plans submitted to the Board of First Things First. Funding is allocated to each Regional Partnership Council based on the population of children aged five or younger and the population of children aged five or younger whose family income does not exceed 100% of the Federal Poverty Level.

The Regional Partnership Council that is involved in the release of this Request for Grant Application includes the following:

- La Paz/Mohave Regional Partnership Council

Who is Eligible to Apply for this Funding Opportunity?

First Things First awards grants to:

- Non-profit 501 (c) (3) organizations providing services in Arizona (both secular and faith-based)
- Units of Arizona government (local, county and state entities as well as schools and school districts)
- Federally recognized Tribal governments or entities providing services within Arizona
- Arizona institutions of higher learning (colleges and universities)
- Private organizations providing services in Arizona

All potential Applicants must demonstrate organizational, fiscal and programmatic capacity to meet the requirements described in the scope of work listed in this RFGA.

What is the Total Funding Amount Available in this Request for Grant Application?

This is a nine (9) month contract with an option for renewal for two (2) additional twelve (12) month periods. Total funds available are approximately $501,896 for the first funding period. First Things First reserves the right not to award the entire amount of available funds or to award an amount that is greater than the posted available funds. Renewal will be contingent upon satisfactory contract performance, evaluation and availability of funds. One or multiple awards may be made.

Scope of Work: What Will This Grant Fund?

The La Paz/Mohave Regional Partnership Council recognizes that children's good health is an essential element that is integrally related to their learning, social adjustment, and safety. Healthy children are ready to engage in the developmental tasks of early childhood and to achieve the physical, mental, intellectual, social and emotional well being necessary for them to succeed when they reach school age.

Access to appropriate and timely preventive health services that begin before the child is born, including screening and early identification for developmental milestones, vision, hearing, oral health, and social-emotional health are necessary to ensure children's healthy development and well-being.

A number of studies have indicated a relationship between the use of prenatal care services and birth outcomes. Adequate use of prenatal care has been associated with improved birth weights and the amelioration of the risk of preterm delivery. Inadequate use of prenatal care has been associated with increased risk of low-birth-weight births, premature births, neonatal mortality, infant mortality, and maternal mortality.

Early identification of developmental concerns is also critical to the optimal growth and well-being of children and their families. Delayed development may indicate an increased risk of other associate medical or behavioral disorders. Current detection rates of developmental delays are lower than their actual prevalence, which suggests that the challenges to early identification have not been overcome. When children are not identified early, they miss vital opportunities for intervention that could reduce or alleviate many of the developmental concerns.

A well-child visit is a critical opportunity for a child's developmental delay or disability detection, which can lead to treatment and lessen the future impact on both the child and family. The American Academy of Pediatrics (AAP) recommends that children visit their pediatrician for a well-child check-up as a newborn, by one month, at two, four, six, nine, twelve, fifteen, eighteen, and twenty-four months, and once at year thereafter.

During a well-child visit, a pediatrician provides preventive care by assessing a child physically, behaviorally, developmentally, and emotionally. In addition, well-child visits allow physicians to promote behaviors conducive to healthy development and give age-appropriate counseling, and guidance. Research shows that parents want more guidance in basic areas of childrearing, such as discipline or encouraging learning.

Additionally, the American Academy of Pediatric Dentistry (AAPD) recognizes that tooth decay is a common and serious preventable health issue. Untreated tooth decay can lead to needless pain and suffering; difficulty in speaking, chewing and swallowing; missed school; increased cost of care; and a greater risk for other systemic health problems due to poor nutrition. Connections are emerging between the condition of the mouth and diabetes, heart disease, and preterm, low-weight births. To decrease the risk of developing tooth decay, the AAPD encourages professional and preventive measures by families of young children.

The La Paz/Mohave Regional Partnership Council had identified the need for regional implementation of the following strategy:

Expand or establish new programs to support children's access to the following quality preventive health care services:

- Prenatal care
- Developmental screenings
- Well-child checks
- Oral health care

The La/Paz Mohave Regional Partnership is inviting individual agencies or collaborative partnerships to present innovative and creative ways to expand access to quality preventive health services for pregnant women and children age birth to five.

Note: Applicants may propose to expand or establish new programs in one or a combination of identified preventive health care service areas. Specific approaches to implement this strategy may include, but are not limited to the following:

- Health service coordination to increase the number of children age birth to five and their families referred and found eligible for existing preventive health services
- Partnerships that expand access to developmental and health screening, including oral health screening and varnish application, in non-traditional settings, including homes, public schools, early care and education settings, and alternative community sites
- Community events that raise public awareness of the importance of routine health screening
- Outreach to enroll children and families in affordable public health insurance programs

Preference in the form of bonus points will be given to proposals that are:

- Evidence-based

- Demonstrate capacity to serve medically underserved communities within the region

The La Paz/Mohave Regional Partnership Council encompasses the geographic boundaries of La Paz County, Mohave County and the Fort Mojave Tribe. The Colorado River Indian Tribes from La Paz County, Hualapai Tribe in Mohave County and Kaibab Paiute Tribe in Mohave County have been deducted from the regional boundaries. Applications in response to this Request for Grant Application (RFGA) must serve communities within the geographic boundaries of the La Paz/Mohave Regional Partnership Council. The Regional Partnership Council will accept applications from shared geographic areas that reach the town of Parker, Arizona and are included in the Colorado River Indian Tribes area as well as the communities included in the Hualapai Tribe area.

A total of approximately $501,896 is available for award with the expectation that multiple awards may be made. In order to maximize limited resources, the Regional Council will NOT fund the direct cost of healthcare. Approaches to implement this strategy will be required to build on current funding streams, including public and private insurance and existing federal and state sources for billing. We will not replace existing funding streams for the direct cost of health care.

Implementation Requirements:

This Request for Grant Application is seeking Applicants to address these specific Goals and Key Measures:

First Things First Goal Area to be addressed:

- Health

First Things First Goals to be addressed:

- First Things First will collaborate with existing Arizona early childhood health care systems to improve children's access to quality health care.
- First Things First will coordinate and integrate with existing education and information systems to expand families' access to high quality, diverse and relevant information, and resources to support their child's optimal development.
- First Things First will advocate for timely and adequate services for children identified through early screening.
- First Things First will expand use of early screening in health care settings to identify children with developmental delay.

First Things First Key Measures to be addressed:

- Total number of children receiving appropriate and timely well-child visits
- Total number of children receiving appropriate and timely oral health visits
- Percent of families with children birth through five who report they are competent and confident about their ability to support their child's safety, health, and well-being.
- Percent of families with children birth through five who report they are satisfied with the accessibility of information and resources on child development and health
- Ratio of children referred and found eligible for early intervention
- Total number and percentage of children screened for developmental delays
- Total number and percentage of children with health insurance

Applicants are required to demonstrate and describe:

- Knowledge, experience, and competence working with the target population
- Evidence and research that supports the approach proposed
- Evidence that staff possess adequate education and skills to successfully implement the proposed approach
- How services will be coordinated with other services and programs operating in the region such as health insurance enrollment efforts, prenatal care service providers, WIC, Arizona Health Care Cost Containment System (AHCCCS), home visiting programs, substance abuse, tobacco cessation and other programs operating in the region as well as mental health service providers
- How strategies will be targeted and tailored to address barriers faced by pregnant women and young children living in rural or remote areas or who lack transportation to needed services
- How potential participants will be identified and what outreach methods or models will be used to engage and retain participants.
- How the proposed approach will be sustainable.

Applicants proposing public awareness or health coverage outreach efforts shall describe their experience and capacity in creating and implementing social marketing and/or public health campaigns.

If implementing a nationally recognized model, it is expected that evaluation tools within that model will be utilized in addition to collecting performance measure data, as required by First Things First. Expenses for the purchase of the tool, training, and evaluative staff time should be included in the applicant's budget request. If the evaluation tool is to be created by the program provider, it must be approved by the FTF evaluation staff prior to use.

Applicants are further required to demonstrate compliance with all appropriate First Things First Standards of Practice included in Exhibits E through J. These include:

- E. First Things First Standards of Practice – Screening
- F. First Things First Standards of Practice – Prenatal Home Visiting
- G. First Things First Standards of Practice – Promotion of Access to Prenatal Care and Healthy Prenatal Behaviors Community Health Worker (Promotora) Model
- H. First Things First Standards of Practice – Parent Education on Preventive Dental Care for Children birth through age five
- I. First Things First Standards of Practice – Health Insurance Outreach and Application Assistance
- J. First Things First Standards of Practice – Community-Based Family Education Programs

Coordination and collaboration with all FTF grantees is critical to developing a seamless service delivery system for children and families. Services and programs cannot be implemented in isolation and coordination and collaboration must occur within a region and across regions. FTF staff and Regional Councils will identify opportunities for collaboration and coordination with successful applicants that become grantees of First Things First. Successful applicants will be required to attend meetings and workgroups in the region being served to identify, develop and implement mechanisms around coordination and collaboration.

Successful applicants will also be required to share data with First Things First and the Regional Partnership Council which will be used for cross regional analysis. Successful applicants will also participate in cross regional and statewide work that may include additional workgroups and meetings. In order to accomplish these tasks, applicants should plan the appropriate budget that would include travel for monthly meetings within the regional area, four cross regional meetings/workgroups held in various locations, and one statewide meeting to be held in Phoenix, Arizona. All travel related costs for these trainings and meetings should be included in the applicant's budget and calculated using the State of Arizona travel policy as described on the budget narrative worksheet.

First Things First grantees implementing home visiting strategies are not eligible to apply to conduct developmental screening for the same target population in the same region for which they receive funding. Administration of developmental screenings is already a grant requirement for such grantees. However, currently funded home visiting programs can apply to expand screening services to reach additional children birth through age five in a region.

Organizations required by state or federal law to conduct screenings are also not eligible for monies under this grant to provide services to the same population for which they receive state or federal funding. However, they can apply for and receive grants monies under this strategy to expand screening services to more children currently not receiving screening services.

Any evaluation should be directly connected to the Goals, Key Measures, and the Performance Measures and should determine the extent to which the program has accomplished the stated goals and key measures. The evaluation should also measure program fidelity by assessing which activities were implemented and the quality, strengths and weaknesses of the implementation. Successful Applicants agree to participate in the First Things First evaluation and will meet the requirements of the evaluation including, but not limited to, timely and regular reporting and cooperation with all First Things First evaluation activities. Timely and regular reporting of all performance and evaluation data includes the electronic submission (through the First Things First secure web portal) of performance measures and other evaluation data as proposed by the Applicant in this Request for Grant Application. Performance measure data must be submitted in its raw form (e.g. number of children served/proposed service number = 52 actual children served/50 proposed service number).

Successful Applicants are also required to collaborate with the First Things First longitudinal evaluation. The provider must participate in child assessment activities associated with the longitudinal evaluation including tracking and reporting to First Things First data pertaining to participant attendance, enrollment, and demographic information, all of which must be maintained in a secure and anonymous manner. In addition, Applicants agree to allow First Things First and evaluation consultants of First Things First to observe program activities on site and obtain parent consent for data collection related to evaluation efforts.

Performance Measures are defined by First Things First to determine the key impacts of the strategies, programs and approaches being implemented. Applicants are expected to collect and report data to First Things First on the progress of achieving the Performance Measures applicable to the strategy (ies) proposed. Performance Measures for purposes of this RFGA are as follows:

The flow chart should also include referrals to organizations such as Head Start and Early Head start which also support school readiness. Further, the flow chart should identify how program will connect families whose children are at risk but not eligible for programs such as AzEIP. Such families should receive a follow up from the screeners in four to six months if a child is referred to a treatment agency but does not "qualify" for services since the criteria for AzEIP and DDD are narrow.
25. Describe how staff conducting developmental screening or other screening using standardized tools will receive training to administer these tools through a formal training program approved by the administering agency of that standardized tool. Is there other training that might be needed for existing and/or new staff? Describe how and when this training will be delivered and how the training will enhance professional development of staff specific to this project. This should be included in the implementation plan (Attachment D).
26. Describe how implementation of this strategy will comply with all the appropriate First Things

First Standards of Practice as described in Exhibits E through J.

27. Are there specific training that might be needed for existing and/or new staff. Describe how and when this training will be delivered and how the training will enhance professional development of staff specific to this project. This should also be included in the implementation plan (Attachment D).

Budget (10%)

Each attached budget form is provided as an example to ensure that the line item budget and budget narrative provide a clear and concise explanation of the methods used to determine the amounts for each line item in the proposed program budget. All budget forms must be signed by an authorized agency representative.

28. Submit the Funds Requested Form (Attachment E). No additional narrative is required.
29. Submit the Line Item Budget (Attachment F). See Exhibit B for a sample line item budget. No additional narrative is required.
30. Submit the Budget Narrative (Attachment G). See Exhibit C for a sample budget narrative.
31. Submit the Disclosure of Other Funding (Attachment H). This list should include all other sources of funding currently received from other State or public agencies, Federal agencies, non-profit organizations and other sources that will be applied to the proposed program/strategy (ies). Note that statute A.R.S. §8-1183 provides for a prohibition on supplanting of state funds by First Things First expenditures, meaning that no FTF monies expended are to be used to take the place of any existing state or federal funding for early childhood development and health programs. In addition, the intent of First Things First funding is to address gaps and needs in the community rather than to fulfill budget shortfalls that may exist in any given year at the state or local levels. No additional narrative is required.
32. Describe your organization's business management system by completion of the Financial Systems Survey. Attach the Financial Systems Survey (Attachment I) to capture basic financial system/operational information to assess financial capacity early in the process. No additional narrative is required. As noted in the financial system survey, you are required to submit a complete copy of the most recent audited, reviewed or compiled financial statements as well as management letters and a schedule showing the TOTAL federal funds (by granting agency) expended by your agency for the most recent fiscal year. NOTE THAT ONLY ONE COPY OF EACH OF THESE DOCUMENTS NEEDS TO BE INCLUDED WITH THE APPLICATION MARKED "ORIGINAL".

The following applies to requested funds:

- List all resources that will be needed to implement the program/strategy (ies) described. These financial resources may involve costs that include personnel, employee related expenses, materials and supplies, curriculum, transportation, printing, materials, media, and incentives for program participants. However, costs MUST NOT include any provision of direct health care.
- Funding shall be limited to those items specifically listed in the proposed budget. Total funding may not be modified following award of the grant/contract. Requests for line item modifications, which do not change the total program funding, shall be requested in writing and shall only be made following receipt of written authorization from First Things First.
- Successful applicants will be required to attend meetings and workgroups in the region being served to identify, develop and implement mechanisms around coordination and collaboration. Successful applicants will also be required to share data with First Things First and the Regional Partnership Council that will be used for cross regional analysis. Successful applicants will also participate in cross regional and statewide work that may include additional workgroups and meetings. In order to accomplish these tasks, applicants should plan the appropriate budget that would include travel for monthly meetings within the regional area, four cross regional meetings/workgroups held in various locations, and one statewide meeting to be held in Phoenix, Arizona. All travel related costs for these trainings and meetings should be included in the Applicant's budget and calculated using the State of Arizona travel rate for mileage, per diem and lodging as described on the budget narrative worksheet. For more information about the state requirements, visit <http://www.gao.state.az.us/travel/>.

Evaluation Plan (15%)

This component will address questions about how the program is working and what can be done to make the program more effective. The evaluation should be directly connected to the Goals, Key Measures, and Performance Measures and should determine the extent to which the program has accomplished the stated goals and key measures. The evaluation should also measure program fidelity by assessing which activities were implemented and the quality, strengths and weaknesses of the implementation. Successful Applicants agree to participate in the First Things First evaluation and will meet the requirements of the evaluation including, but not limited to, timely and regular reporting and cooperation with all First Things First evaluation activities. Timely and regular reporting of all performance and evaluation data includes the electronic submission (through the First Things First secure web portal) of performance measures and other evaluation data as proposed by the Applicant in this Request for Grant Application. Performance measure data must be submitted in its raw form (e.g., number of children served/proposed service number = 52 actual children served / 50 proposed service number).

Successful Applicants are also required to collaborate with the First Things First longitudinal evaluation. The provider must participate in child assessment activities associated with the longitudinal evaluation including tracking and reporting to First Things First data pertaining to participant attendance, enrollment, and demographic information; all of which must be maintained in a secure and anonymous manner. In addition, Applicants agree to allow First Things First and evaluation consultants of First Things First to observe program activities on site and obtain parent consent for data collection related to evaluation efforts.

If implementing a national model, it is expected that evaluation tools within that model will be utilized. In addition, coordination of key questions from the standardized tools that "link up" with established First Things First evaluation measures will be identified. Any "provider-created" evaluation tools must be approved by First Things First evaluation staff prior to use. Providers could also elect to use a standardized tool for evaluation (for those not already involved in a national model). However, expenses for the purchase of the tool, training to use it, and staff to complete the data collection will be included in the total budgeted amount available for the service.

Performance Measures are defined by First Things First to determine the key impacts of the strategies, programs and approaches being implemented. Applicants are expected to collect and report data to First Things First on the progress of achieving the applicable Performance Measures. Performance Measures for purposes of this RFGA are as follows:

Performance Measures:

35. Describe the evaluation tools that will be utilized including evaluation tools included in a national model that “link up” with established First Things First evaluation measures, “provider-created” evaluation tools, or standardized tools for evaluation. For Applicants who are designing their own evaluation tools, describe the components of the instruments to be used and when the tool will be submitted for approved by FTF evaluation staff prior to use.
36. How will the required data be collected? Describe how you will ensure that data entered into the First Things First web-based database after it has been collected is accurate and timely. What procedures will be in place to assure the quality of your data (e.g., training for data collectors, data collection forms, timeliness for administering tools, etc.)?
37. Complete the Evaluation Plan Overview table in Attachment J.
38. What resources (e.g. personnel, supplies, computer, etc) will be needed to complete necessary activities related to the quality data input and data collection of the program? No liability shall accrue to First Things First in the event this provision is exercised, and First Things First shall not be obligated or liable for any future payments or for any damages as a result of termination under this paragraph.

4. Contract Changes

- 4.1 Amendments Any change in the contract including the scope of work and budget described herein, whether by modification or supplementation, must be accomplished by a formal written contract amendment signed and approved by and between the duly authorized representatives of the Grantee and First Things First. Any such amendment shall specify an effective date, any increases or decreases in the Grantee's compensation, if applicable, and entitled as an "Amendment" and signed by the parties identified in the preceding sentence. The Grantee expressly and explicitly understands and agrees that no other method and/or no other document, including correspondence, acts, and oral communications by or from any person, shall be used or construed as an amendment or modification or supplementation to the contract.

4.2 Subcontractors The Grantee agrees and understands that no subcontract that the Grantee enters into with respect to performance under this contract shall in any way relieve the Grantee of any responsibility for performance of its duties. It is highly recommended by First Things First that a Memorandum of Understanding or some other type of contract is in place between the Grantee and a Subcontractor for services to be performed, and in which a payment amount has been negotiated and approved, to avoid any misunderstanding between both parties. The Subcontract shall incorporate by reference the terms and conditions of this Contract.

BUDGET NARRATIVE EXPLANATION

The purpose of the budget narrative is to provide more clarity and detail on the various budget line items. The budget narrative should explain the criteria used to compute the budget figures on the budget form. Please verify that the narrative and budget form correspond and the calculations and totals are accurate.

Personnel: Include information such as position title(s), name of employee (if known), salary, time to be spent on this program (hours or %), number of months assigned to this program, etc. Explain how the salary rate for each position was determined. If salaries are expected to increase during the project year, indicate the percentage increases for each position and justify the percent of the salary increase. Also, be sure to include the scheduled salary increases on the Budget Form.

Fringe Benefits: (Include a benefit percentage and what expenses make up employee benefit costs. Indicate any special rates for part-time employees, if applicable. Explain how the benefits for each position were determined. If using a fringe benefit rate, explain how this percentage is justified or approved by your agency.

Contracted Consultant/Professional Services: If professional consultants/services costs are proposed in the budget, define how the costs for these services were determined and the justification for the services related to the project. Explain how all contracts will be procured.

Travel: Include a detailed breakdown of hotel, transportation, meal costs, etc. Indicate the location(s) of travel, the justification for travel, how many employees will attend and how the estimates have been determined. Explain the relationship of each cost item to the project (e.g., if training or training expenses are requested, explain the topic of the training and its relationship to the project). Applicants must use the State of Arizona Travel Policy on rates for mileage, lodging, and meals (www.gao.state.az.us/travel/).

Pass Through/Sub grants: In the event that this application represents collaboration and the contract will be utilizing other sub grantees to perform various components of the program, include a list of sub grantees, programmatic work each sub grantee will perform, and how costs for each sub grantee are determined.

Supplies and Operating Expenses: Explain each supply item to be purchased, how the costs were determined and justify the need for the items. Items with a unit cost less than $5,000 are considered supplies and should be listed in this category. All purchases should be made through competitive bid or using established purchasing procedures.

Administrative/Indirect Costs: Administrative costs are general or centralized expenses of overall administration of an organization that receives grant funds and does not include particular program costs. For organizations that have an established federally approved indirect cost rate for Federal awards, indirect costs mean those costs that are included in the organization's indirect cost rate. Such costs are generally identified with the organization's overall operation and are further described in 2 CFR 220, 2 CFR 225, and 2 CFR 230.

Applicants must list either Option A or Option B and provide proper justification for expenses included:

Option a - Administrative Costs: with proper justification, sub grantees may include an allocation for administrative costs for up to 10% of the total direct funds requested of the grant request. Administrative costs may include allocable direct charges for: costs of financial, accounting, auditing, contracting or general legal services; costs of internal evaluation, including overall organization's management improvement costs; and costs of general liability insurance that protects the organization(s) responsible for operating a project, other than insurance costs solely attributable to the project. Administrative costs may also include that portion of salaries and benefits of the project's director and other administrative staff not attributable to the time spent in support of a specific project.

Option B - Federally Approved Indirect Costs: If your organization has a federally approved indirect cost rate agreement in place, grantees may include an allocation for indirect costs for up to 10% of the grant request.

Applicants must provide a copy of their federally approved indirect cost rate agreement.

*Indirect costs are costs of an organization that are not readily assignable to a particular project, but are necessary to the operation of the organization and the performance of the project. ### DEFINITION OF TERMS

As used in these Instructions, Special Terms and Conditions and Uniform Terms and Conditions, the terms listed below are defined as follows:

1. “Activity” means activities, services, and programs direct or indirect or contracted means to carry out strategies.
2. “Application” means bid, proposal or quotation.
3. “Applicant” means a person who responds to a RFGA.
4. “Attachment” means any item the RFGA that requires an Applicant to submit as part of the Application.
5. “Best Practice” means that there is a technique, method, process, activity, incentive or reward that is more effective at delivering a particular outcome than any other. Best Practice can also be defined as the most efficient (least amount of effort) and effective (best results) way of accomplishing a task, based on repeatable procedures that have proven themselves over time for large numbers of people. Best Practice is used to describe the process of developing and following a standard way of doing things that multiple organizations can use for management, policy, and especially software systems.
6. “Collaborate” means to work jointly with others or together to conduct planning, decision-making, or program execution; may include exchange of information or resources.
7. “Contract” means the combination of the RFGA, including the Instructions to Applicants, The Uniform and Special Terms and Conditions, and the Specifications and Statement or Scope of Work; the Application and any Application Clarifications; and any RFGA Amendments or Contract Amendments.
8. “Contract Amendment” means a written document signed by the Grants and Contracts Procurement Officer that is issued for making changes in the Contract.
9. “Coordination” means to take a leadership role and responsibility for outcomes in bringing people, organizations, or resources together to conduct planning, decision-making or program execution; to bring into a common action, movement, or condition.
10. “Days” means calendar days unless otherwise specified.
11. “Early Child Development and Health” (ECDH) means the array of programs, services, and supports in both Early Care and Education and Health which serve children aged birth through five years and their families.
12. “Exhibit” means any item labeled as an Exhibit in the RFGA or placed in the Exhibits section of the RFGA. Exhibits are resource materials.
13. “Goal” means broad measurable statement of intent to set a future direction; what an Applicant wants to accomplish. The goal communicates the direction of (more, less, maintain) the result statement. Goals indicate what First Things First will do as part of the comprehensive early childhood system. Each Goal is a piece of a larger picture and is inextricably interrelated and linked with the other Goals.
14. “Goal Area” means First Things First’s over-arching goals- Quality and Access; Health; Professional Development; Family Support; Coordination; Communications.
15. “Grantee” means any Applicant whose Application has been accepted and has been awarded a Grant with First Things First.
16. “Grants and Contracts Procurement Specialist” means the person, or his or her designee, duly authorized by First Things First to enter into and administer Contracts and make written determinations with respect to the Contract.

17. "Key Measures" means measures that align directly with Goals and indicate what we want to change. Many Key Measures listed will indicate whether regular progress toward First Things First Goals will be achieved within three to five years. Other Key Measures listed will provide important data to determine ongoing impact on and progress of the early childhood development and health system.
18. "Logic Model" (LM) means a sequential program planning, implementation, and evaluation process that identifies and links all elements to achieve positive impacts on individuals and the community. Using a logic model supports strong program/project planning and design, promotes realistic expectations, leads to identification of meaningful evaluation data, assists in monitoring progress and tracking changes so that successes can be replicated and mistakes avoided. The logic model provides a standardized approach to grant planning, implementation and evaluation that is used across the Arizona Early Childhood Development and Health regions.
19. "Performance Measures" means a short-term impact that links to the Key Measures and include service numbers.
20. "Promising Practice," means practices that were developed based on theory or research, but for which an insufficient amount of original data have been collected to determine the effectiveness of the practices. Practices in this category may have been studied, but they did not go through rigorous study designs. These practices have been tested but the results are not as clear as those results in the proven category above. Practices that fall in this category are based on some type of research – whether it is theoretical, qualitative, or quantitative – but data have yet to be collected on effectiveness. Promising practices may have been tested under different conditions and, therefore, may have a research foundation. However, the practices themselves have not been tested using the most rigorous research designs, or were tested in different contexts.
21. "Proven Practice" means the study design uses a convincing comparison group to identify program impacts, including randomized-control trial (experimental design) or some quasi-experimental designs. Sample size of evaluation exceeds thirty in both the treatment and comparison groups. Must directly impact one of the indicators.
22. "Research-based" means research that is based on the neuro-biological, behavioral and social sciences that has led to major advances in understanding the conditions that influence whether children get off to a promising or worrisome start in life.
23. "RFGA" means a Request for Grant Application (RFGA).
24. "RFGA Amendment" means a written document that is signed by the Grants and Contracts Procurement Officer and issued for making changes to the RFGA.
25. "School Readiness" means the match between the range of developmental accomplishments (e.g., emerging literacy and numeracy skills, such as pretending to read stories or counting to 20, and small-motor skills, such as buttoning clothes and holding a pencil properly) and difficulties (e.g., such as restlessness and inattention, speech difficulties, and less than optimal health) that children bring with them when they arrive at kindergarten and the capacity of schools to educate all children regardless of the abilities, interests and talents they bring to school.
26. "State" means the State of Arizona, Early Childhood Development and Health Board who executes the Contract.
27. "State Fiscal Year" (SFY) means the period beginning with July 1 and ending June 30.
28. "Strategy" means general methods or overall approaches used to achieve goals. Strategies provide direction and are globally defined best practices that positively impact the lives of children and families served. Strategies work together and indicate how we will implement the Goals.
29. "Subcontract" means any Contract, express or implied, between the Grantee and another party delegating or assigning, in whole or in part, the furnishing of any service required for the performance of the Contract.

First Things First Standards of Practice – Screening

Training and Qualifications

Applicants who become successful grantees should maintain certification and current training for staff on the methods and tools used in screening activities throughout their contract, attending re-certification training courses at the state-approved intervals.

Applicants who become successful grantees may wish to incorporate use of videos, screening training kits, or interactive web training as a method of training screeners.

Screening Locations

While screening can occur in wide variety of settings, screenings that are conducted in environments where families maintain ongoing connections (such as child care centers) are preferred. The administration of screening at such locations will facilitate the follow up process, and ensure that routine screenings occur at recommended intervals. Screenings should ideally first occur in a medical home setting.

Hearing and vision screenings should occur in a quiet, well-lighted, non-distracting environment.

Screenings optimally should occur in settings that are closely aligned to a child's natural environment.

Screenings may occur in screening vans (motor homes) built to accommodate young children in an inviting, friendly environment. The successful Applicant will provide evidence of meeting all license, insurance, and certification requirements of the state of Arizona to operate from a van or motor home.

Screening Delivery

Screenings should be handled in a confidential manner. Parent or guardian consent to screening is required before screening can occur.

Screenings are optimally delivered in a friendly, non-threatening manner to a child. Screenings that involve and solicit parent or caregiver input beyond use of simple questionnaires are considered optimal.

All Applicants should be prepared to use tools with dual-language design.

Screenings should be combined with further confirmatory tests if the screen is positive or in the case of a developmental screening indicate a risk. Applicants that become grantees should create a system of linking families to follow up tests and services.

Communication with parents is an essential component of any screening protocol from beginning to end.

A parent or other designated caretaker should be present for all screening procedures.

Screening Tools

Screening tests should be sensitive enough to identify problems, specific enough to prevent unacceptable over referrals, as well as reliable, and valid in the setting and for the purpose it will be used.

Screening tools should be designed to capture and hold a child's interest at an age appropriate level while minimizing distraction from other stimuli.

Screening tools used should be age appropriate, meeting the cognitive and motor skills required for participation.

Screening tools should be designed to actively engage a young child, giving the tester the opportunity to observe and interact with the child during the screening process. When concrete manipulative materials are used, they should be selected on the basis of lack of bias due to previous school experience, sex, race or socioeconomic level.

Specific Standards Related To Types of Screening

Hearing

Hearing screening should be performed using age appropriate, standardized screening tools, equipment and/or assessments.

Hearing screenings require a quiet environment with ambient noise levels on average of less than 50 dBSPL. Although the space requirement is minimal, it is important that the hearing screenings be conducted in a room separate from the rest of the screening.

Audiometers, if used, should be equipped with a full headset (two earphones), while audiometers equipped with only one earphone utilizing a handled method should be avoided.

Hearing and vision screeners should have additional, child friendly manipulatives available to help elicit results beyond the use of hardware and charts.

All devices to test hearing shall have periodic testing for accuracy and proper functioning and include any required certificates stating that these standards have been met.

Vision

Vision screening would be performed using age appropriate, standardized screening tools and /or assessments.

Vision and gross motor skills screenings should be conducted in areas that have minimal distraction, are well lighted, and have space appropriate for the test being used.

Hearing and vision screeners should have additional, child friendly manipulatives available to help elicit results beyond the use of hardware and charts.

Developmental

Developmental screenings must address each of the developmental domains: cognition, physical development, language, social-emotional and adaptive behavior mandated in the Individuals with Disabilities

Act as predictors for learning problems. Tools should be standardized (norm-referenced) or criterion-referenced.

If using standardized tools, instruments should be used that have met national standards in their development that include reliability and validity and relationships to screening research and best practices.

Screening tools used should optimally allow flexibility in scoring cutoff levels. Cutoff levels are designed to identify children who, when compared with children of their own age, score at the lower extreme of the continuum. Cutoff levels define the approximate percentage of children across the nation who would be identified with a “potential delay.” Flexible cutoff levels found in some tools allow screening coordinators to choose a level that best fits the screening needs of their community.

A well-trained screening team’s collaborative results and observations might suggest the need for an autism screen, which the grantee should be prepared to perform at the time of a screening.

A combination of a screening team evaluating abilities, skills and behaviors with parent and caregiver involvement (interviews, standardized scored questionnaires with screening tool and child histories: medical history, family background, general concerns about development) needs to be used to create a complete picture of the child’s developmental progress, strengths, and needs.

Ideally, children will be screened during well-child visits with their medical home provider at 9, 18, and 24 months of age. When this is not possible, or does not occur, screening should be conducted as early as possible, at regular intervals, or when a parent/caregiver expresses a concern regarding a child’s development. It is important to implement strategies that encourage and promote families to share their concerns with their medical provider and to give guidance as to the best ways to address those concerns with those providers.

Screening activities designed to identify preschoolers with developmental concerns should occur in such a way to allow services to begin by the child’s third birthday.

First Things First Standards of Practice - Prenatal Home Visiting

Home visitation programs deliver education, information and support to families where they are - in their homes. Home visiting programs have also shown positive effects in improving birth outcomes. A 2004 study of home visiting programs found that mothers visited by paraprofessionals experienced better mental health, and fewer miscarriages and fewer low birth weight newborns. Mothers and children visited by paraprofessionals displayed greater responsiveness to one another and in some cases had home environments that were supportive of children's early learning.

The same study found that nurse-visited women reported more time between births of first and second children and lower domestic violence rates. Nurse-visited children of mothers with low psychological resource levels at onset had homes more conducive to early learning when compared with controls, more advanced language, better executive functioning and better adaptive behavior during testing. (Pediatrics, 2004)

A prenatal home-visitation program with focus on social support, health education, and access to services holds promise for reducing LBW deliveries among at-risk women and adolescents. Psychosocial support appears to be an important element of such programs. Indeed, research has indicated that the rate of LBW for black mothers is associated with aspects of the social environment that are amenable to change, including social support and neighborhood characteristics. Other important elements appear to be linkages to medical providers and health and nutrition resources, and encouraging healthy prenatal behaviors. (American Journal of Preventive Medicine, February 2009)

A variety of home visitation program models exists. They differ in many technical aspects, such as the experience and credentials of the home visitor, and the duration and intensity of the visits. Yet, common aspects unite home visitation program models focusing on improved birth outcomes, including psychosocial support for the at-risk pregnant woman, encouragement of healthy prenatal behavior, linkages to community services such nutrition and medical services, and parent education and support related to infant and child development.

As stated in the Scope of Work, it is expected that home visitation programs funded by First Things First will be comprehensive for the families they serve.

These programs will:

- Engage at-risk pregnant women in home visiting services early, preferably in the first trimester of pregnancy.
- Engage pregnant women and their families in assessing their status using research supported tools to identify strengths and needs. Programs will identify the tools currently used in practice or use the Life Skills Profile.
- Help pregnant women and families develop and implement a family service plan based upon assessment findings and goals and objectives identified with the family.
- Connect eligible pregnant women to public health coverage as needed and to prenatal care services available.
- Monitor and encourage continued access to prenatal care throughout a woman's pregnancy.
- Encourage healthy prenatal behaviors, and connect women to available services that mitigate unhealthy behaviors such as smoking cessation or drug or alcohol treatment.

- Connect pregnant women to nutrition services such as the federal Women, Infants and Children (WIC) Nutrition Program as needed.
- Provide home-visiting services post-partum for at least twelve months, supporting the mother in understanding and addressing needs and development of their infant.
- Refer pregnant and postpartum women for depression, using a standardized or criterion-referenced tool. Connect women to mental health resources as needed.
- After the birth of a child, conduct regular developmental screenings using a standardized or criterion-referenced tool. Provide evidence that staff administering any developmental tool have received the required professional training to administer the instrument. Depending on the duration of the home visiting intervention, screenings may occur at 9, 18 and 24 months of age for all of the following developmental domains: cognitive, language, social-emotional and motor skills.
- Provide resource and referral Information-Identify services available to families and the subsidies to which they may be entitled; help them to fill out the forms to gain those services, and help the families to follow-through to ensure service delivery as needed.
- Provide service coordination with other community resources to make an effort to minimize duplication and to ensure that families receive comprehensive services as needed.
- Encourage and support retention of pregnant and postpartum women to follow-through with and continue involvement with family support services that support family stability and child development.
- Each family must receive information and support in each of the core areas: parenting skills, prenatal health and healthy prenatal behaviors, family planning/spacing of birth of children, child health and developmental needs, resource and referral and service coordination. Information and support should be tailored to the needs of the pregnant women and family, as identified in the family service plan.
- Child development includes all domains (physical, cognitive, social, emotional, language, sensory).
- Parenting skills should involve age-appropriate child-adult interactions and address multiple facets of parenting skills such as physical touch, positive discipline, early reading experiences and verbal and visual communications.
- Support for the health of the pregnant woman and young child should include information and connection to resources related to the following: proper nutrition and available nutrition resources for pregnant women and young children; obesity prevention; breastfeeding; physical activity; immunizations; insurance enrollment; participation in consistent medical/dental homes; participation in prenatal care; family planning; safety; developmental health; vision and hearing screening).

Programs may also help families:

- Identify their natural supports such as peer support and natural helping networks in their neighborhoods or community.
- Access opportunities to participate in family literacy activities and reinforce reading to the child from birth.
- Address issues of substance abuse, domestic violence, mental health, and children with developmental delays or disabilities

When implementing the Scope of Work, programs will:

- #1: Provide services to families based upon a culture of trust and respect.
- Create a family-centered environment

- Home visitors are from the community and have extensive knowledge of community resources
  - Structure activities compatible with the family's availability and accessibility
  - Demonstrate genuine interest in and concern for families
  - Respect the culture and heritage of the family
  - Clearly define program objectives with the families upon enrollment; understanding what the program will accomplish helps families become fully engaged in program services
  - Create opportunities for formal and informal feedback regarding services delivered and act upon it; ensure that input shapes decision-making
  - Encourage open, honest communication
  - Maintain confidentiality, being respectful of family members and protective of their legal rights
- #2: Support the growth and development of all family members; encourage families to be resources for themselves and others.
- Encourage family members to build upon their strengths
  - Publicity/outreach, literature and staff training reflect the commitment to effectively serve fathers
  - Help families identify & acknowledge informal networks of support and community resources
  - Create opportunities to enhance parent-child and peer relationships
- #3: Affirm, strengthen & promote families' cultural, racial and linguistic identities and enhance their ability to function in a multicultural society.
- Create opportunities for families of different backgrounds to identify areas of common ground and to accept and value differences between them
  - Strengthen parent and staff skills to advocate for themselves within institutions and agencies
  - Hire staff who reflect the cultural and ethnic experiences and language of the families with whom they work and integrate their expertise into the entire program
  - Provide ongoing staff development on diversity issues
- #4: While ensuring model fidelity, programs are flexible and continually responsive to emerging family and community issues.
- Be accessible for families. Offer extended service hours including weekend/evening hours.
  - To ensure quality services caseload size for each staff person is based upon:
    - How many hours per week the home visitor works
    - Family need and intensity of services provided (for example, for families with high risk or multiple risk factors, frequency and intensity of programming can increase to allow for more time to build relationships, modify maladaptive behaviors or attitudes or practice newly learned parenting skills)
    - Where each family lives

For example, 20 is the maximum caseload for a home visitor working entirely in homes with families assessed as high risk or with multiple risk factors at one time per week. However, adjustments may occur (in consultation with First Things First) based on unique community or client needs.

Engage families as partners to ensure that the program is beneficial. Families have regular input and feedback in programmatic planning to meet their needs.

Develop a collaborative, coordinated response to community needs

- #5: Home visitors receive ongoing staff development/training to ensure program quality and give staff an opportunity to develop professionally
- Assess home visitors' skills and abilities. Home visitors must be able to engage families while keeping a professional rapport.
  - Prior to serving families, staff must have professional training or have participated in development opportunities to ensure a level of competency in service delivery.
  - Staff will receive training and information regarding mandatory reporting. Arizona law requires home visitation staff who suspect that a child has received non-accidental injury or has been neglected, to report their concerns to Child Protective Services or local law enforcement (ARS §13-3620.A).
  - Provide ongoing staff development/training
  - Supervisors should work with home visitation program staff to prepare professional development plans
- #6: All Standards of Practice are modeled in all activities including planning, governance, and administration
- Wages and benefits are adequate for supporting high quality staff
  - The length of employment and experience/education are reflective of high quality staff. Home visitors are required to have a minimum of a Bachelors degree in early childhood development, education, family studies, social work or a closely related field; or staff is extensively trained and can demonstrate competency in service provision (Programs must provide complete documentation). If programs experience hardship in recruitment efforts, they must notify and consult with First Things First to determine if alternative education or experience is permitted.
  - Establish an effective, consistent supervisory system that provides support for all staff members and ensures accountability to participants, funders, and the community
  - Establish supervision as a collaborative process with mechanisms that support staff in difficult situations and provides regular discussion to reflect and debrief. Supervision will also include observation. It is important that supervisors spend time with home visitors in the field to have a sense of how the service is being delivered. This will help supervisors and staff to identify coaching and mentoring opportunities.
  - All staff work as a team, modeling respectful relationships of equality
  - Build a team of staff who is consistent with program goals and whose top priority is the well-being of families and children
  - Structure governing bodies so that they reflect the diverse constituencies of the community and are knowledgeable about community needs
  - Evaluation and monitoring is a collaborative, ongoing process that includes input from staff, families, program administrators, and community members
  - Activities, as identified by First Things First, include pre and post testing, self-assessment and opportunities for feedback.
  - Identify outreach, engagement and retention practices
  - Must demonstrate program effectiveness mechanism. Programs must participate in data collection and reporting of performance measures.

First Things First Standards of Practice – Promotion of Access to Prenatal Care and Healthy Prenatal Behaviors Community Health Worker (Promotora) Model

Partnerships between informal systems of care involving indigenous community health workers and formal care networks is a promising practice in connecting women to prenatal care and improving birth outcomes.

Use of promotoras (community health workers) in Latino communities (especially in rural communities) has shown promise when connecting women to prenatal care. For example, La Clinica del Cariño in Hood River County, Oregon has shown success in increasing access to early prenatal care. The clinic, which serves a predominantly rural Latino population, including many seasonal farm workers, began its Perinatal Health Promoter Program in 1987. In this program, promotoras are recruited from the community served by the clinic and are trained to both communicate the need for and to provide basic clinical prenatal services. The promotoras work in the communities and in the clinic. Their knowledge of, and integration within, the communities ensures that they are aware of nearly all pregnancies that occur within their communities. Nearly all pregnant women are or eventually become aware of the promotoras, who then become case managers for these women by providing prenatal counseling and by facilitating access to the clinic, which is a federally qualified health center. In addition to prenatal services, the promotoras provide early postpartum care and family planning services. They work closely with physicians in the clinic and discuss all cases, particularly high-risk pregnancies. Records from the clinic have shown that more than 85 percent of Latina mothers who accessed services at the clinic received prenatal care within the first trimester of pregnancy. (American Journal of Public Health, 2004)

First Things First is interested in implementing the promotora outreach model in rural, Latino communities as a means of improving birth outcomes. Specifically, Applicants who become successful grantees would:

- Engage at-risk pregnant women in prenatal services early, preferably in the first trimester of pregnancy. Ensure pregnant women are aware of and access formal prenatal care services
- Engage pregnant women and their families in assessing their status using research supported tools to identify strengths and needs. Programs will identify the tools currently used in practice or use the Life Skills Profile
- Help pregnant women and families develop and implement a family service plan based upon assessment findings and goals and objectives identified with the family
- Connect eligible pregnant women to public health coverage as needed and to prenatal care services available. Provide transportation to prenatal doctor visits, as needed.
- Monitor and encourage continued access to prenatal care throughout a woman's pregnancy
- Encourage healthy prenatal behaviors, and connect women to available services that mitigate unhealthy behaviors such as smoking cessation or drug or alcohol treatment
- Engage and empower members of the community in fostering support of pregnant women, preserving within the community the traditional Latino cultural context that appears to confer positive health effects. Organize community members to provide social support systems for pregnant mothers, such as those that exist in most areas of Latin America.
- Connect pregnant women to nutrition services such as the federal Women, Infants and Children (WIC) Nutrition Program as needed
- Provide resource & referral information. Identify services available to families and the subsidies to which they may be entitled; help them to fill out the forms to gain those services, and help the families to follow-through to ensure service delivery as needed

- Provide service coordination with other community resources to make an effort to minimize duplication and to ensure that families receive comprehensive services as needed
- Partner with lay midwives (parteras), health providers, and caregivers who provide support during labor and the postpartum period (doulas), educating women on parenting skills, the health needs of the young child, and child development.
- Promotoras, who are lay practitioners, should be members of the communities in which they work and deeply familiar with their communities. They should have had formal or informal training in maternal and child health. Applicants should be able to describe the type of training they will receive.

First Things First Standards of Practice: Parent Education on Preventive Dental Care for Children Ages Birth through Five

The American Academy of Pediatric Dentistry recognizes that caries is a common, complex, chronic disease resulting from an imbalance of multiple risk factors and protective factors over time. To decrease the risk of developing caries, a potentially devastating infectious disease, the AAPD encourages professional and at-home preventive measures including age-appropriate feeding practices that do not contribute to a child's caries risk.

To prevent dental caries among young children, the AAPD recommends that parents receive information on the following:

- The importance of dental treatment for pregnant and postpartum women. Reducing the mother's/primary caregiver's/sibling(s) MS levels (ideally during the prenatal period) to decrease transmission of cariogenic bacteria.
- Minimizing saliva-sharing activities (e.g., sharing utensils) between an infant or toddler and his family/cohorts.
- Implementing oral hygiene measures no later than the time of eruption of the first primary tooth.
- The importance of cleaning a young child's teeth if an infant falls asleep while feeding.
- The importance of tooth brushing of all dentate children twice daily with fluoridated toothpaste and a soft, age-appropriate sized toothbrush. Parents should use a 'smear' of toothpaste to brush the teeth of a child less than two years of age. For the two through five year old, parents should dispense a 'pea-size' amount of toothpaste and perform or assist with their child's tooth brushing.
- The importance of initiating flossing when adjacent tooth surfaces cannot be cleansed by a toothbrush.
- The need to establish a dental home within 6 months of eruption of the first tooth and no later than 12 months of age to conduct a caries risk assessment and provide parental education including anticipatory guidance for prevention of oral diseases.
- The importance of avoiding caries-promoting feeding behaviors. In particular, parents should be advised that:
  - Infants should not be put to sleep with a bottle containing fermentable carbohydrates (such as milk).
  - At-pleasure breast-feeding should be avoided after the first primary tooth begins to erupt and other dietary carbohydrates are introduced.
  - Parents should be encouraged to have infants drink from a cup as they approach their first birthday. Infants should be weaned from the bottle at 12 to 14 months of age.
  - Repetitive consumption of any liquid containing fermentable carbohydrates from a bottle or no-spill training cup should be avoided.
  - Between-meal snacks and prolonged exposures to foods and juice or other beverages containing fermentable carbohydrates should be avoided.

First Things First Standards of Practice: Health Insurance Outreach and Application Assistance

Children whose families earn up to 200 percent of the Federal Poverty Level generally qualify for publicly funded health insurance. Across the nation, as many as half of children who are uninsured qualify for publicly funded health insurance coverage (such as KidsCare or AHCCCS), but are uninsured. In Arizona, it is estimated that 16 percent of children lack health care coverage.

For children birth through age five, this represents 80,000 children. Health insurance outreach and application assistance is a proven practice for improving and increasing health coverage in public programs. Community application assistance occurs nationally and in Arizona in a wide variety of settings, such as health clinics, child care settings, social service agencies, recreation centers, and homeless shelters. Reports based on national as well as Arizona experience indicate that such assistance can make a difference in getting children covered. AHCCCS implemented an electronic application for AHCCCS and KidsCare to make applications more accessible to families. The universal application, known as Health-E-App, allows families to apply for and renew health coverage, as well as other family support programs such as TANF, Cash Assistance, and Food Stamps, directly over the internet.

While the new application promises to make enrollment in public coverage programs for young children easier, barriers still exist. Community-based organizations and families may be unfamiliar with the new application, and may need assistance in completing it. In addition, families who are applying for coverage for the first time are required to submit original documentation, requiring submission of documents to an Arizona Department of Economic Security (DES) office or a community-based agency that is “certified” by AHCCCS to accept such documentation. Families may find going to a DES intimidating or difficult due to hours of operation (8-5) or long wait times. Currently, a limited number of entities use Health-E-App to enroll children in health coverage, including some community health centers and hospitals.

To address the need to cover more children in publicly funded health insurance, First Things First will seek proposals from applicants that will address one or more of the following activities:

1. Communication Campaign (media, direct mail) on the availability of public health coverage
2. Outreach and application assistance
3. Education for service providers on the availability of Health-E-App and its use so that these providers can provide enrollment assistance to families
4. Community-based locations to offer Health-E-App internet access and enrollment assistance

First Things First funded programs shall supplement, not supplant, other state expenditures on, and federal monies received for early childhood development and health programs. First Things First focuses on programs and services that provide children with the best opportunities for school and life success.

It is expected that health insurance outreach and application programs funded by First Things First will:

- Seek out families that are eligible but not enrolled in public health insurance and provide support for these families to enroll
- Introduce and provide technical assistance to potential enrollees so that they have the skills to apply utilizing the Health-E-App, an internet online application
- Provide information that parents can use about the importance of taking their children to well child and preventive health check-ups on a regular basis to receive timely, preventative health care for their children

- Build upon, enhance and coordinate with existing health insurance outreach and enrollment assistance efforts
- Demonstrate connections to community-based organizations in the region that serve families and/or community-based organizations where the uninsured are likely to reside or seek other services
- Work closely with the AHCCCS and the Arizona Department of Economic Security (the agency responsible for determining eligibility for AHCCCS) to maximize enrollment and renewal of public health insurance and to reduce children churning off of coverage

When implementing the Scope of Work, programs will:

1. Maintain confidentiality, being respectful of family members and protective of their legal rights.
2. Program staff must have experience/expertise in working with families in the target population to affirm, strengthen & promote families' cultural, racial and linguistic identities.
3. Hire staff who reflect the cultural and ethnic experiences and language of the families with whom they work and integrate their expertise into the entire program
4. Provide ongoing staff development on diversity issues.
5. Programs are flexible and continually responsive to emerging family and community issues.
6. Be accessible for families. Offer extended service hours including weekend/evening hours. Community-based sites must be accessible to families by public transportation in settings where families with young children typically congregate.
7. Engage families as partners to ensure that the program is reaching eligible families.
8. Develop a collaborative, coordinated response to community needs.
9. Staff receives ongoing training to ensure program quality.
10. Prior to serving families, staff must have training to ensure a level of competency to engage in effective outreach and application assistance.
11. All standards of practice are modeled in all activities including planning, governance, and administration.
12. Establish an effective, consistent supervisory system that provides support for all staff members and ensures accountability to participants, funders, and the community.
13. Evaluation and monitoring is a collaborative, ongoing process that includes feedback from staff, families, and community members.
14. Activities include opportunities for feedback.
15. Identify outreach and enrollment practices.
16. Must demonstrate program effectiveness mechanism - Programs must participate in data collection and reporting of performance measures.

First Things First Standards of Practice: Community-Based Family Education Programs

Community-based family education programs work to enable families to build on their own strengths and capacities to promote the healthy development of children. Successful family education programs help parents acquire and internalize parenting and problem-solving skills necessary to build a healthy family. Effective parenting education develops nurturing and attachment, knowledge of parenting and of child development, parental resilience, and social connections and supports for parents. Research suggests that improving fundamental parenting practices reduces the likelihood of problem behaviors in children. It has been shown that parent-child relationships can be enhanced through parent training and family strengthening programs.

While these programs come in different forms, they have a common goal of increasing the level of family functioning and promoting healthy child development. Programs are embedded in their communities and contribute to the community building process. Parents should be able to access educational information in their community on a variety of child development topics. Information about where and when parenting education programs are available needs to be easily accessible by all interested persons.

Based upon Building Bright Futures, regional needs and assets reports, and preliminary information from the Family and Community Survey, we know that Arizona's parents and families with young children need information on child development; to develop parenting skills; and have access to resources. For those who do not qualify or choose to participate in a home visitation program, community-based family education programs serve as another opportunity for Arizona's parents and families to access education, information and resources.

While each First Things First funded community-based family education program may be uniquely designed, they all have a valuable role to play in meeting the complex needs of families and communities across the State of Arizona. First Things First focuses on programs and services that provide children with the best opportunities for school and life success. Funding decisions are based upon a robust process of review to ensure programs are supported by research, value the family and use approaches considered best practice, which are responsive to the needs identified in a specific Region. First Things First funded programs shall supplement, not supplant, other state expenditures on, and federal monies received for early childhood development and health programs.

As stated in the Scope of Work, it is expected that community-based family education programs funded by First Things First will be comprehensive for the families they serve. Using a family-centered and strengths-based approach, these programs will:

- Provide resource and referral information (e.g. where to access regular developmental screenings).
- Each family must receive information and support in each of the core areas: child development, parenting skills and resource and referral.
- All domains of child development (physical, cognitive, social, emotional, language, sensory)
- Appropriate child-adult interactions and development of parenting skills (i.e. physical touch, showing affection, spending time together, positive discipline, parental monitoring, early reading and language experiences and communication)
- Resource and Referral Information-Identify supports and services available to families with young children, for example, health (e.g. nutrition; obesity; breastfeeding; physical activity; immunizations; oral health; insurance enrollment; participation in consistent medical/dental homes; participation in prenatal care; safety; developmental health, vision and hearing screening)

Programs may also help families:

- Identify their natural supports such as peer support.
- Access opportunities to participate in family literacy activities

When implementing the Scope of Work, programs will:

#1: Provide services to families that are based upon a culture of trust and respect

- Create a family-centered environment.
- Staff are from the community and have extensive knowledge of community resources
- Structure activities compatible with the family's availability and accessibility
- Demonstrate genuine interest in and concern for families
- Clearly define program objectives with the families upon enrollment: understanding what the program will accomplish helps families become fully engaged in program services.
- Create opportunities for formal and informal feedback and act upon it; ensure that input shapes decision-making. Encourage open, honest communication.
- Maintain confidentiality, being respectful of family members and protective of their legal rights.

#2: Support the growth and development of all family members; encourage families to be resources for themselves and others.

- Encourage family members to build upon their strengths.
- Publicity/outreach, literature and staff training reflect the commitment to effectively serve fathers.
- Help families identify & acknowledge informal networks of support and community resources.
- Create opportunities to enhance parent-child and peer relationships.

#3: Affirm, strengthen & promote families' cultural, racial and linguistic identities and enhance their ability to function in a multicultural society.

- Create opportunities for families of different backgrounds to identify areas of common ground and to accept and value differences between them.
- Strengthen parent and staff skills to advocate for themselves within institutions and agencies.
- Hire staff who reflect the cultural and ethnic experiences and language of the families with whom they work and integrate their expertise into the entire program
- Provide ongoing staff development on diversity issues.

#4: Programs are flexible and continually responsive to emerging family and community issues.

- Be accessible for families.
- Ensure a manageable classroom size and appropriate staffing patterns.
- Calculate classroom size and staffing patterns based upon:
  - Space, square footage
  - For adult-only sessions, there will be a maximum of 25 participants
  - Number of sessions held for families throughout a calendar week
  - Program model (For example, for play groups that involve both adults and children, staffing patterns must demonstrate appropriate staff to family ratios (lead instructor and two teachers for eight families with two year olds – while adults receive information from lead instructor, teachers will maintain a 1:4 ratio with the children)).

- Engage families as partners to ensure that the program is beneficial. Families have regular input and feedback in programmatic planning to meet their needs.
- Develop a collaborative, coordinated response to community needs.

#5: Community-based programs provide ongoing staff development/training to ensure program quality and give staff an opportunity to develop professionally.

- Assess staff skills and abilities.
- Must be able to engage families while keeping a professional rapport
- Provide ongoing staff development/training on the Standards of Practice principles.
- Supervisors should work with staff to prepare professional development plans.

#6: All Standards of Practice are modeled in all activities including planning, governance, and administration.

- A parent or other designated caretaker should be present for all screening procedures.
