

ARIZONA NEEDS YOU!

The early childhood years – birth through age 5 – set the stage for a lifetime. For children to be successful in school and beyond, they must start out on the right path. Early childhood programs give children a solid start in life and a foundation upon which they can build.

Arizona's parent, business, philanthropic, education, health, tribal and community leaders have a unique opportunity to help give a strong start to all kids – by serving on a First Things First (FTF) Regional Partnership Council.

Want a better Arizona?

FTF is now accepting applications from individuals with the expertise, dedication and determination necessary to lead their region through critical decision making, partnership building and community change.

About First Things First - First Things First is a voter-created, statewide organization that funds early education and health programs to help kids be successful once they enter kindergarten. Decisions about planning, how funds are spent, and strategic direction are made by local Regional Partnership Councils comprised of community volunteers. To learn more, visit azftf.gov.
